Mrs. Stevens, the retiring president, gave a vote of appreciation for the hearty cooperation extended to her during her term in the chair.

Dr. E. V. Springbett gave the financial report, showing total receipts of $1,766.88 from November of last year. Of this amount, the sum of $692.74 was forwarded to the Edmonton branch of the Red Cross and $441.15 to Alberta Divisional Headquarters. Supplies to the extent of $418.25 have been purchased through local merchants. The bank balance as at September 25th, was $179.32.

The following report by Mrs. Lally, chairman of the War Work Committee gives a resume of the fine work being accomplished here towards the Nation's war effort:

To The Officers and Members, Red Cross Society, Wainwright, Alberta:

As convener of our local Red Cross War Work Committee I wish to submit the following report of work accomplished from January 1st, to September 25th, 1940, a period of nine months.

We have 145 ladies working for us—110 from town and 35 in the country district. Besides these, there are four groups or organizations doing work for our local.

We have made eight shipments to Headquarters, containing 2,988 pieces—546 pairs of socks, 20 mattress pads, 187 sweaters, 64 pneumonia jackets, 118 Hospital bed gowns, 110 pillow cases, 95 suits pyjamas, 568 Triangles, 112 abdominal bandages, 1 pair mitts, 2 helmets, 122 surgical towels, 54 sheets. The material for which cost us $1,077.88, $385.14 locally and $692.74 in headquarters.

Whenever possible the parcels of work going to our country workers have been carried free of charge. Much credit is due to Mr. Gardner Boyd who has been such a willing helper in this line having carried many parcels for us. However, material has had to be shipped by mail and express. My expenses for the period covering the nine months is $2.06.

We have received much credit for the quality of our work from Headquarters. Not one article has been returned to us for alteration and we know that some branches have had boxes of work returned to them because the articles were not made according to instructions received.

I do want to thank the members of our work committee who have so splendidly shared the burden of the work with me. Without your cooperation I never could have such a report as this to hand in. Thank you. Respectfully submitted.

MARY B. LALLY,
Convener, War Work Committee

Crabapples Grown Successfully Here

Showing that fruit can be grown successfully here, Mrs. E. W. Beasley last week brought in a few branches fairly covered with Siberian crabapples taken from her farm at Gilt Edge. The trees from which they were taken have been growing for seven years, but not until this season have they produced fruit of any size. Mrs. Beasley tells us that the apples make most delicious preserves and she is quite of the opinion, that given time, the fruit will rival even that brought by Len Minter from the balmy clime of Victoria a few weeks ago.

We are very sorry to report that Mrs. A. Robinson left the United church last week and suffered considerable bruises about her face.

Following their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kaufman left on Saturday for Washington, U.S.A., where they will reside.

Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Proctor are leaving this week for the East where they will make their home and where the doctor will take up a practice.

After several weeks' visit with her sister Mrs. Guy Pigeon, Miss E. Evans left on Sunday for her home in Vancouver.

Mr. Frank McLeod made a rushed trip to Edmonton Monday evening when he took a patient to hospital there in his ambulance.

Mrs. H. C. Wallace motored to Edmonton on Thursday in company with her son Beatty, and Ivan Jackson, who will continue their studies at the University.

Members of Adeline Rebekah lodge are reminded of the regular meeting on Thursday evening, when the degree will be conferred and the Assembly President, Mrs. M. Williams of Edmonton, will pay her official visit.

Miss Marcella Plater left at the week end for the coast where she will spend an extended holiday with relatives.

By Proclamation of His Excellency the Governor General of Canada, the week of October 6th to 12th has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week. This week provides an annual occasion to impress upon public consciousness the enormous cost of the fire waste, to the end that, conditions may be improved and fire carelessness reduced.

The world has passed through a year of the second Great War and we have all read accounts of the devastation and havoc that has been wrought by means of incendiary and high explosive bombs and we are shocked by the details of such accounts. Yet in the twenty years since Fire Prevention Week was first established in Canada, this country has recorded more than 800,000 fires involving a property loss of over $726,000,000 and a loss in human lives of more than 7,700. Our complacency in this respect is only matched by the complacency with which we watched Hitler attain power.

Fire is no respecter of persons. Every man has a responsibility towards his neighbors and that responsibility should come every right-thinking person to pause and consider what he owes to the community in which he lives. We owe it to ourselves but in a greater degree to our fellow-citizens to permit no condition to exist upon our premises that will invite a visitation of fire. A great majority of fires are so easy to prevent that it is certainly a moral crime to tolerate the things which bring them about.

A lovely lunch was served to some forty guests, with the bride's table laid in ecru lace. The handsome three-tier wedding cake rested on pink brocade in the centre. Mrs. Huntingford and Mrs. Lyle were in charge of the coffee and tea, respectively.

Congratulations and good wishes were offered the happy couple as they left by motor for a honeymoon in Edmonton. To travel, the bride changed to a black tailored suit, green turban and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Johns are well-known here, having both worked on the staff of the Wainwright Star for the past several years. Following the honeymoon, Mr. Johns continued to Calgary where he has joined His Majesty's Forces.

Presentations made prior to departure.

Miss Cathy Wyllie, who left at the week end for Edmonton where she will take a course in business training at McTavish's college, was the guest of honor at several pleasant little parties prior to her departure.

On Tuesday evening, at a happy little gathering in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, members of the Young People's Society made Cathy the recipient of a handsome overnight case as a token of her work in this organization. Games and lunch filled out a pleasant evening.

Class members of the high school gathered at the station on Saturday afternoon to bid her good luck in her studies, and at the same time presented her with a make-up kit.

THE PRESS UNDER THE NAZI YOKE

Newspapers in Occupied Territories Told What To Print

BY J. A. SPENDER

To ascertain the truth about life in German occupied territory or territory in which German terrorism is at work is almost impossible at the present time. What is possible, however, is to be on guard against perversions of the truth disseminated daily under various disguises on German prompting.

It may help in this if we consider the various methods adopted. These differ in the occupied countries and in the neutral countries.

In Occupied Territory

In the occupied countries what the Germans would prefer would be to keep established and highly respected newspapers in existence and to dictate to them what news they shall publish and what opinions they shall express.

But they discover that highly respected journalists will not consent to be used in this way. The utmost that these will do is to refrain from openly expressed anti-German opinions and they often qualify this negative attitude by comments which the censor perceives to have an anti-German tendency. They are then subject to a special military censorship and if this does not bring them to heel they may be interned and the newspapers employing them suppressed.

Holland

"There is no censorship in Holland," said the Nazi Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, soon after the occupation of that country, "but the newspapers are supposed to take account of the new situation."

The hint seems not to have been taken as quickly as was expected, for a little later the President of the so-called "Council of Enlightenment," a Nazi-controlled organization, made a speech in which he warned the Dutch Newspaper Proprietors' Society that the Nazis were running out. This Society, he said, had been treated with indulgence in view of the useful work it had done in past times and had been given another opportunity to "re-organize itself." But, he added, "haste will have to be made, for we are now living in dynamic times."

Haste was made, but by the Germans, who proceeded to suppress three Dutch newspapers for a period of eight weeks on the ground that "they had systematically maintained an unfriendly attitude to the occupiers and had been unable to cease their one-sided propaganda in favor of the Allies."

Their offence, apparently, was that they failed to take seriously the German White Book which endeavored to prove that the Allies had been about to attack Germany through Holland and Belgium. One of the suppressed papers was the famous Conservative daily, the Standard, edited by Dr. Collin, who was for many years Prime Minister of the Netherlands.

Denmark

The procedure has been the same in Denmark where the newspapers were told to carry on but warned that any expression of anti-German feeling or contradiction of the official German statements about events, or public feeling in Denmark would expose them to the severest penalties.

They were forbidden to mark news as coming from German sources, and the slightest freedom of comment brought the military censorship about their heads. But the one thing the Censor could not do was to induce the Danish public to read the papers thus handled. Their circulations dwindled, their readers turned to the foreign broadcasts which the invader tried in vain to suppress.

Norway

In Norway explicit instructions were issued to the newspapers that they must serve as an instrument for shaping opinion in the manner laid down by the German News Bureau. They were forbidden to publish war-reports coming from countries hostile to Germany, to report speeches made by statesmen, generals or members of the Royal families in these countries, or anything else "likely to cause friction between the German troops and the Norwegian people." On the other hand German war reports had to be well displayed.

France

In France the difference between occupied and unoccupied territory offered a special problem and also a new opportunity to the Germans' manipulation of the Press.

Many well known Paris newspapers ceased publication when the Germans entered the city; others, like the Matin, the Paris Soir, and the Dernieres Nouvelles de Paris, were annexed and turned to German uses. Under its new management the Matin became violently anti-Jewish and anti-British.

Sometimes the names of contributors were used who were known to Frenchmen not to be living in France, but would be supposed by foreigners to be the authors of the articles attributed to them. The only safe assumption is that all French newspapers published in the occupied territory are directly under German control.

The case is somewhat different in unoccupied territory. Here the newspapers appear to have allowed themselves more liberty. But the difference between the two gives the German Censor an opportunity of turning Frenchmen against Frenchmen.

The German controlled Matin in occupied territory complained bitterly that "nothing is changed" in the unoccupied territory and that the newspapers there are providing "too much English news." Others deride or discredit the Petain Government and contrast its ineptitude and inefficiency with German efficiency.

To discover the special purposes of these manoeuvres is not easy, at any given moment, but we may take it that mischief making and mystification are the general objects in view.

Neutral Countries

The neutral countries provide a wide and varied opportunity for the Nazi propagandist. In these are German-owned or German-subsidized newspapers, with little or no circulation which can be quoted abroad as if they expressed a genuine opinion.

This is an old trick which has been played all over the world since the days of Bismarck, but the Nazis have been more systematic and profuse in their expenditure of money in its development than their predecessors.

The general object is to present neutrals known to be friendly to the Allies as shocked or depressed by their proceedings and in despair about their prospects. These are Daniels come to Judgment.

But in many neutral countries such as Switzerland and Sweden there are honest and courageous journalists who write what they think about Hitler and Nazi Germany. This, however, exposes their governments to diplomatic browbeating and threatening, for the Nazis refuse to believe that Governments cannot control newspapers, if they choose to do so.

Staunchly as some of these governments have upheld the freedom of the press, the natural desire of journalists not to make trouble for them has undoubtedly kept plain speaking on the side of Britain within bounds in Europe. For full and frank expressions of opinion by neutral observers we have to look across the Atlantic.

A Warning

The general conclusion is that the Nazi stronghold of the Press is almost complete in Europe. Nothing can come out of France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark and Norway except with the consent of the German Censor; much that pretends to be impartial neutral opinion is of German authorship.

The object of the Nazi propagandist is to deceive and mystify and no exposure of the falsity of the facts he alleges deters him in his pursuit of it. He has continued to repeat that Winston Churchill ordered the sinking of the Athenia and that Mr. Chamberlain incited the attempt to assassinate Hitler, and apparently he still hopes that perpetual repetition may cause these stories to be believed.

No proof to the contrary will prevent him from multiplying the losses of British ships or aircraft by five or twelve or any figure that may occur to him. It is enough for him if he causes some neutral or British observer to doubt the veracity of the British figures.

The only safe rule is to accept nothing in which his hand may be suspected at its face value. About all this the question to ask is not whether it is true, but why he says it.

GOD GIVE US MEN

(By J. G. Holland)

God give us men. The time demands Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and willing hands;

Men whom the lust of office does not kill;

Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;

Men who possess opinions and a will;

Men who have honor; men who will not lie;

Men who can stand before a demagogue

And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking;

Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog

In public duty and private thinking; For while the rabble with their thumb-worn creeds,

Their large professions and their little deeds,

Mingle in selfish strife; lo! freedom weeps!

Wrong rules the land, and waiting Justice sleeps!

God give us men!

CHAMPIONS OF CIVILIZATION

It is said that some animals can lose a leg without noticing it. Is civilization like that? Or is it awake to its peril? Listening to accounts of the bombing of London one wonders. Other cities, other peoples, have been subject to this kind of crime—the Chinese, the Ethiopians, the Spaniards, Poles, Finns, Norwegians, Dutch, Belgians and French. Ruthless aggressors have spared no treasure of person or possession. Now they unleash on one of the greatest capitals of civilization their boasted utmost of destruction. Will what remains of the civilized world be merely horrified or will it arouse itself to make sure that this shall not happen again, that the new barbarism shall be turned back for good?

All these peoples have been champions of civilization. Too often they have fought alone. Today Britain rights alone. And this struggle over London is the complete symbol of the largely unseen struggle of civilization against barbarism today. Every pilot of the Royal Air Force, every barge at the Thames docks, every humble householder in the East End is a champion of world culture and Christianity. After all the hair-splitting over the war's causes, all the totalitarian twisted propaganda, all weighing past mistakes, that is the simple fact.

Those who cherish the best the human spirit has known sense this situation. They are not like the man which can lose a leg without knowing it. And they must give thanks daily for the kind of champions that now defend civilization. The spirit of the British people against odds which no one dared to count is beyond praise. Its magnificent courage has been truly voted by Winston Churchill, its spiritual strength by Lord Halifax. And its heroic self-sacrifice by the little home-owner near a vital airport who surveyed the ruins of his house and said: "When they hit us they miss the airframe."

But one of the most confident tributes to the British people's staying power comes from the writings of an American:

"Let those who will, fall, England will not. These people have sat here a thousand years, and here they will continue to sit. They will not break up, or arrive at any desperate revolution, like their neighbours; for they have as much energy, as much confidence, as they ever had."

Emerson wrote that a hundred years ago. It is true today. And all who give thanks for those who stand so staunchly in the front line can find means of making effective their gratitude. —The Christian Science Monitor, Boston.

DO YOU DO THIS?

A careful study of fire records shows that at least 80 per cent of fires are preventable. The following examples are given from among the thousands of known causes to show how easy fires can start and the fatal results that may follow.

A man dropped a cigarette in a rubbish pile in a rooming house and burned to death eleven people.

A man dropped his cigarette in a couch in the lobby of a hotel. Fire resulted at 3 a.m. and resulted in the death of four people.

A mother in one of our leading college cities, for the five hundredth time perhaps, started a fire with coal oil. The fire she started burned to death three children besides herself.

A man dropped a match on a garage floor, walked on and left it. A twelve-year-old child found it and ignited her clothing which resulted in burns that caused her death a few hours later.

A man attempted to sleep and smoke at the same time—result, he set the bed afire, was overcome with smoke, and removed in an unconscious state. Only the timely arrival of the fire department saved him from being cremated alive.

Some grown-ups place "strike-anywhere" matches on a kitchen table.

NOTICE

In the Estate of Sophia Ker, late of the Settlement of Edmonton, in the Province of Alberta, Widow, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims upon the estate of the above-named Sophia Ker who died on the 11th day of March, A.D. 1940, are required to file with J. A. Mackenzie, Barrister, Wainwright, Alberta, Solicitor for the Executors of the Estate of the said deceased, by the 25th day of October, 1940, a full statement duly verified of their claims and of any securities held by them, and that after that date the executors will distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which notice has been so filed or which have been brought to their knowledge.

ELMER J. KER, MABEL JOHNSTON, Executors, by their Solicitor, J. A. Mackenzie.

Two small children acted upon the implied suggestion and carried some to their playhouse, innocently started a fire. Result, a little boy burned fatally.

Do you always think about the safety and welfare of those about you when you discard your match and cigarette stub? Are you mindful of the safety of the children in your home to the extent of providing safety matches, and keeping them out of their reach? Do you have proper respect for the dangerous properties of gasoline and always handle it with care?

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

Some people seem to have the impression that the weekly newspaper doesn't cover the territory it serves in comparison to other media, such as dailies, magazines, etc. Recently the extension department of the University of Alberta made a survey through their youth training schools of the situation as existing in this province.

Questionnaires were sent out and it was revealed that in the household of the weekly newspaper held a decidedly strong lead over other kinds of publications. The survey revealed that 76.2 percent get the local weekly newspaper; 21 percent get farm papers; 27 percent get other periodicals. When a community or district has a substantially good weekly newspaper that concentrates on giving service people are entitled to there is no doubt that advertisers can safely choose it as a medium to reach the people.

The general run of weekly papers have long since passed the "hick" stage and serve their communities more than they get credit for.

FANTASTIC STORY COMES TO LIFE ON SCREEN

Whimsey and fancy in their most fascinating form come to the screen in this second feature length subject created out of the magic process of drawings animated in motion pictures—"Gulliver's Travels."

This week-end picture at the Elite is a free-handed narrative of the amazing account written originally by Jonathan Swift, which in its own day was a bitter political and social satire and which in its fanciful outline survived to become a classic story of the English language.

Wilmot and McNaughton
Gerry Wilmot, CBC announcer now in England with the Corporation's mobile unit, is seen in the above picture, interviewing the Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Forces, Lieutenant-General A. G. McNaughton.

The essentials of the tale have been transcribed handsomely, tunefully and wittily to the screen. This synthesized version, both very little with characterization and undertakes little or no temperamental or cultural differentiations between the Giant and the Lilliputians. The Giant is simply a very large person who has come to Lilliput Land. He has been made genial, kindly and considerate, which should do much toward allaying any possible apprehensions that the sensibilities of the children will be assailed.

The picture is vividly challenging in Technicolor and Prince David and Princess Glory step alive and radiant out of the picture books, and the producer, with a sharp eye to the necessities of entertainment, has endowed them with the living and tuneful voices of Lanny Ross and Jessica Dragonette. There are several song numbers of pleasing character, including "Faithful Forever" and "Hop, Hop, Happy Day," which are charmingly rendered. The musical background is of appropriate merit.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McLaughlin of Pluman, Man., were visiting relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Baker over the week end.

The stubble is long and very dry this fall, and the grain in the bin on your farm should be protected against fire. The cost is very small. See Joe Welch.

The stubble is exceptionally long. We have a large crop, most of which is stored in buildings on the farm. All of which means, you will be safer to spend the very small amount required to protect your grain against fire. Joe Welch, insurance.

"WHY SHOULD WE FIGHT FOR ENGLAND?"

"Why should we fight?" he asked me. "Cause England is at war? Why are they fighting now, Dad, what are they fighting for? What does it mean to you, Dad, to have Mums and me?"

The Germans won't come here from away across the sea. So why should you go there, Dad, and leave us here to cry? Is it 'cause England owns us? Is that the reason why?"

His eyes looked widely at me, I tightly held my son, and this is how I answered his questions one by one:

"We fight when England calls us, for in her sacred keep The ashes of our fathers lie in her soil—alone. And many times for England they fought that she'd be free And they are part of England, and so, my son, are we. And some may pass her by, lad, and some may scorn her hand, But we must be forever a part of that fair land. For everything we have, son, that's good, and fine, and just. Was washed in British blood and given to us in trust."

And we must keep that trust, son, against the force of greed And fight beside Old England whenever she's in need. And once again she's calling, across the Empire wide, And all her Empire answers, 'You'll find us at your side.' Oh yes, we're owned by England, but we own England, too, As you are part of me, son, and I am part of you."

—Harold Wood, Winnipeg (From the Legionary)

BUSINESS
IS BIG BUSINESS

A LITTLE steam lifts the lid of your tea-kettle. A lot of steam drives trains, machinery. Your bank deposit may be little, but it combines with millions of others to make a lot of "steam". It helps to run the nation's machinery of production, marketing, employment, business. It is important indeed to the country's war financing and war-time effort. The money is yours yet it helps provide the credit necessary to move the goods and services of the nation. Canada's chartered banks thus perform functions of great usefulness. They receive the deposits of millions of Canadians, and extend credit to individuals, governments, businessmen and marketing organizations. The small depositor is important to the banks. The "little fellow", popularly so-called, is welcomed by any bank, as a customer.

[In war, as in peace, Canada's Chartered Banks maintain, uninterrupted, their useful services—safeguarding depositors' funds; facilitating the nation's business—looking forward to peace with freedom as the only sure basis of enduring prosperity.]

CHAPTER V

"Isn't he precious?" Olive asked with a light laugh. "He reminds me so of a little boy. Cygie..."

"Yes!"

"Has Jeffrey told you about..."

"Audrey Ewan was conscious of a curious sensation. It was almost as if her heart had skipped a beat at Olive's smilingly demure. "Has Jeffrey told you about..."

"I don't believe so. You mean then... is it congratulations?"

Olive nodded and lowered her eyes. The admission came shyly: "Yes. We're engaged." With the words, her hand came out and Audrey grasped it firmly.

"Congratulations!" she exclaimed cordially. "I think it's wonderful!"

"So do I," Olive admitted, withdrawing her hand somewhat hastily. "I imagine Jeffrey's breaking the tidings to his parents soon."

"I'm sure they will be very happy for him."

"Hope so," Olive's smile vanished. "Of course, darling, you understand why we are not making any general announcement. I haven't my degree. At least, I don't think I have."

Audrey experienced another inner shock. The explanation had been so "Well, a connection with some immature matter of fact," she said simply.

"And are you properly appalled?" Olive supplemented good-naturedly. "It's only a matter of form. My heart has been free for a long time... that is, until I met Jeffrey over in Europe."

Audrey nodded. The smile on her face fell from.

"I think marriage will be very good for Jeffrey," his fiancée went on complacently. "He has lived a lonely life, after all. That's the trouble of us 'only' children, don't you think? He never has had the real advantages of a social life, of the sort we will have. I'm selfishly glad that it isn't really necessary for him to work for a living... grub, I mean. Clubs and sports and meeting the right people will do wonders for him. I don't believe he is cut out to be a business man, do you?"

"No," Audrey admitted slowly. "I doubt if he is. But his father's people have been lawyers for several generations. I understand. I imagined he would follow his father's profession and take his place... at least, that is what everyone here has always thought."

"A substantial firm in the city might be an asset... like Vic's. But he works dreadfully hard, and it will take him years and years to get anywhere! There's no point in Jeffrey's keeping his nose to the grindstone."

"Then you don't plan to live here?"

"My dear child! I'm planning marriage, not retreating to a convent! Country life a week or two at a time is bearable, but that's enough."

When Olive spoke again there was an earnestness in her voice that made it almost sharp. "There is one thing, Cygie, I want you to understand... believe. I really love Jeffrey."

"Why, of course you do!"

The door opened at that moment and Jeff stepped in.

"Secret session over?" he wanted to know. He kept his eyes on Audrey as he entered, closed the door after him and leaned against it.

She rose, went to him with her hand extended in a frank gesture. "Congratulations, Jeff. Lots of them. And happiness."

"Thanks, Cygie. Hoped you knew. Like it?"

"Think it's pretty swell my own self."

"What did your mother and father say?" Cygie asked abruptly.

"They bore up very nicely, I thought. They'll be up shortly to welcome you into the clan. Of course I told them there was nothing imminent, and all that. He turned to Audrey. "You're the only one in the dark secret."

"And I shall be very discreet," she smiled. "I appreciate the honor. Best of luck to you both. I really must be going."

Jeffrey went down to her car with her. "I wanted you to know first thing, Cygie," he explained boyishly, once they were out of the house. "Told Olive that you were one of the family and if she didn't tell you today, I would. I'm a lucky guy, you think?"

"He was wistfully anxious that she should agree with him."

"And how! Best of luck, Jeff. Good-by."

Judge George Castle, retiring to his library after lunch, hailed his son. "A moment, Jeffrey, if you please."

"Want me, sir?"

"Yes. Sit down. I wish to talk to you. I believe, as matters now stand, you expect to marry Mrs. Cooper before New Year's."

"Why yes. That's the arrangement, providing..."

"I am quite aware of the proviso. Her father is Harvey Harrison of the Harrison Products Corporation. From all accounts, he is a very wealthy man. A millionaire several times over, I should imagine."

"It wouldn't surprise me."

"I should judge... rather, I am convinced... that you would have a low opinion of a man who was content to live upon his wife's bounty. Had you given the matter any serious thought, may I ask?"

"Why, no." Jeffrey was a little taken aback at the direct question. Of course I had always thought that...

"That you would be associated with me in a business way. Such an arrangement was in my mind when I sent you to law school. You know that has always been my hope and intention."

Jeffrey, for the first time, was tempted to insinuate that his father's success had not been particularly handicapped by the million-dollar dowry brought him by Louise Langdon. He contented himself with: "That is the matter you wish to discuss, sir?"

"There is nothing particular to discuss," the Judge retorted. "In view of a long vacation and your intention to support a wife, I assume that you are ready to settle down and think of a professional career. In that event, I am ready to arrange a partnership with you. More than that, I am willing to guarantee you a substantial income from the start. Doesn't that appeal to you as a fair proposition?"

"Very." The quiet agreement had its effect.

"Now see here, my boy," the Judge's heavy features relaxed in frosty smile. "I need you. In fact I need you particularly just now. You are not planning to be away long are you?"

"You mean when I go to the city?"

"I understand that you are taking Mrs. Cooper home."

"I haven't planned definitely. Olive spoke as if she is expecting me to stay a few days..."

"Well, I shall have to make due allowances, I presume. However, I will ask you to return as soon as possible. Miss Dods, my secretary, is leaving me."

"Not really! Why? Not on my account, I should hope!"

"No. She tells me it is according to the doctor's orders."

"Lord! That's a horse of another color. Why, I was..."

"And so was I," his father finished grimly. "What is still more to the point, she wishes to be relieved from her duties as soon as possible."

The following Saturday, Audrey received a telephone call soon after dinner. When she heard the voice at the other end of the wire she laughed. It was Victor Quinn. "Don't tell me. Let me guess. It's the old smoothie himself!"

"How right you are. Checked in at the village inn, had my supper and everything. If you're not going to take your bath for a bit, how about coming up?"

"I can wait a while. I'll be very glad to see you."

Audrey discovered that she was unexpectedly glad to see Vic when he sprang from the car and came hurrying up the steps. There was something reassuring in his rugged smiling face.

Victor sat down at Audrey's side, lighted a cigarette without offering her one, and remarked: "Now start in and tell me all about yourself. Everything."

"Well..." she mused, "it's been a long time since we've met, but to the best of my knowledge and belief I've been nowhere, done, seen and heard nothing. Oh, I've eaten and slept and tried to be a good Girl Scout."

"Hmm... m. That sounds innocent enough. Almost vacuum. By the way, I dropped in at the Castle office this afternoon. I scarcely expected to see Jeff on a half-holiday, so I wasn't disappointed. The busy elderly lady holding down the place told me he was out of town. "If I had seen him," Vic went on, watching Audrey's face through half-closed eyes, "I was going to congratulate him."

"About what?" Audrey wondered how he had found out about the engagement.

"Olive got her decree. Or perhaps you knew it."

"No, I didn't know. Then you assume..."

"If they weren't engaged when he left for the city, I'll stake my reputation they are now. I'm wondering what it may do to old Jeff. If he turns out to be the sort of guy who lets his wife support him, I'll walk all the way from somewhere and back for the express pleasure of kicking him!"

Audrey pondered this in silence for a moment. "I guess they'll muddle through," she decided carelessly.

"Which is a deft way of reminding me that I should worry over my own affairs," Vic chuckled. With that, he changed the subject and talked lightly of other matters.

"How I have been running on!" he exclaimed in dismay when the clock in the hall chimed eleven. "Why didn't you tell me to tiddle on long ago?"

"Because I have been having a good time," Audrey answered homely. "It isn't often I have a chance to sit at the feet of a man of the world and snatch pearls of wisdom. Mother suggested that if you were in town tomorrow I might ask you to have Sunday dinner with us. We usually dine at one or a little after."

"I'll be here at the stroke. Thanks, and good night."

When Victor strolled in at the appointed hour, Audrey thought he looked unusually attractive in his fresh, white suit, a rose in the lapel of his double-breasted jacket. He carried a sheaf of newspapers under one arm and deposited them on the porch swing after greeting his host and family.

It was not until after dinner that Vic had an opportunity to speak to Audrey alone. "Say, Audrey," he said, "there's a release in the society news that may interest you... here we are." He held out an open page.

"Oh!"

It was a two-column portrait of Olive. Over it a caption: "Her Betrothal Announced." Audrey skimmed through the accompanying account. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Harrison were announcing the engagement of their daughter to Mr. Jeffrey

Hints for the Household

Conducted By Betty Barclay

If school lunches are among the problems that confront you at this season, it's a good idea to start collecting helpful suggestions now.

By packing a lunch box you can better control the noon meal for the school child than by giving him a luncheon allowance. Both plans have their points, of course. The one-time lack of hot food in the luncheon brought from home is now overcome with thermos containers.

Milk, fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, whole grain cereals, eggs and meat—all the essentials—can be included in the school lunch box—not necessarily at one time but often enough to give the child properly balanced meals. Be sure to include fresh fruit every day.

Probably the orange is the ideal fruit for school lunch, available as it is the year around. It is an appetite stimulator for the "won't eat" child, and is rich in the protective elements so necessary in growing children—vitamins C, A and B, as well as calcium.

Since the sandwich is the basis for a majority of school lunches prepared at home, most mothers will welcome some

Sandwich Suggestions

Orange Juice is good to thin peanut butter or cream cheese, or to moisten fillings of ground meats, raisins, figs and nuts. These make especially excellent fillings for toasted sandwiches.

Lemon juice gives added tartness to meat, egg and fish fillings where desired. Moistened fillings with lemon juice to taste. Or spread bread with butter (½ pound) creamed with lemon juice (1 tablespoon).

Orange Marmalade Sandwiches: Spread one slice of sandwich with Orange Marmalade, one with cottage or cream cheese or peanut butter. Marmalade fillings are especially good on orange or brown breads.

Orange Honey Bread

Variety in sandwich breads is an important factor in the appetizing school lunch. One of the most delicious varieties we have tested is an orange honey bread, sure to be popular with the school child. Moreover, it is a simple recipe for the busy mother.

2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup honey
1 well beaten egg
2½ tablespoons grated orange rind 2½ cups flour, sifted before measuring ¾ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt

¾ cup orange juice
¾ cup chopped nut meats
Cream shortening and honey. Add egg and orange rind. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add dry ingredients to creamed fat and honey mixture, alternating with orange juice. Add chopped nuts last. Pour into an oiled 9 by 5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350° for 70 minutes. Cut when cool and spread with cream cheese or orange marmalade.

Orange Salad Cup
As a change from fruit to be eaten out-of-hand, prepare a salad cup which may be packed in a small jar with screw top, paper salad cup or thermos container.

Combine:
½ cup fresh orange slices quartered
¼ cup pineapple pieces
¼ cup diced apple
1 tablespoon lemon mayonnaise

PICKLE TIME
Pickles add zest to the meal. There are many old stand-bys, but some new combinations and flavors are always interesting.

Whole Green Tomatoes
1 gallon small green tomatoes
2 cups cider vinegar
4 cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mixed pickle spice
1 teaspoon celery seed

10 whole cloves
Cook tomatoes 22 minutes in boiling water, a few at a time. Remove each tomato carefully, drain thoroughly, and place in jars. Make a syrup of other ingredients. Boil 5 minutes. Strain over tomatoes. Seal tightly.

Uncooked Vegetable Salad Pickle
1 peck ripe tomatoes
2 large sweet red peppers
2 large sweet green peppers
4 cups chopped onions
4 stalks celery
2 cups salt
2 tablespoons cloves
2 tablespoons pepper corns
1 teaspoon mixed pickle spice
1 teaspoon celery seed
2 quarts vinegar

Peel and chop tomatoes. Chop peppers, celery and onion coarsely. Mix vegetables, add salt, and let stand overnight. Boil vinegar, sugar and spices 5 minutes. Let stand overnight. Drain vegetables thoroughly. Mix with strained vinegar syrup. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. This makes an excellent salad for winter use if jellied with plain gelatin. If used as a relish, excess juice may be poured off and used as seasoning for tomato cocktail.

ICE PICKLES
4 quarts thinly sliced cucumbers
1 cup thinly sliced small onions
1 green pepper cut in small pieces
¼ cup salt

Pickle Mixture
2 cups sugar
½ teaspoon turmeric
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon mustard seed
1 stick cinnamon
10 cloves
2½ cups vinegar

It is nice to get sun-tanned and it certainly adds immensely to our appearance in the Summer, but when Fall arrives, tan is rather a drawback. It doesn't go very well with Fall attire, does it?

It is also wise to remember that, even if you have been very discreet in sun-tanning, the dry weather has taken its toll. Dry weather tends to extract some of the natural oil from the skin, and it is this natural oil that helps to keep wrinkles away.

An occasional bleach will help to take away some of the tan. Try this one. Mix some lemon juice with four times as much glycerin, and stir in enough powdered starch to form a paste. Cover your face and neck with this paste, using a soft cloth, and allow to remain on until dry. Wash off gently with a solution of lemon juice in hot water, rinse with cold water, and finally dry with a soft face cloth.

Your daily care should be based on the following two rules: First, wash yourself regularly with soothing palmolive soap, which gets its goodness from olive and palm oils. Secondly, help to nourish your skin by creaming often. Use lots of the new three-purpose cream, and at night massage it well in.

Write me about your personal beauty problems, enclosing four one-cent stamps and I'll send a copy of my interesting new booklet on Beauty Care. It is full of hints on beautifying. Address: Miss Barbara Lynn, Box 75, Station B, Montreal, Que.

Transported silently and efficiently by destroyers of the Royal Canadian Navy, Canadian troops, are pictured, left, as they walked down the gang-plank to take up positions in historic Newfoundland. Destroyers, bearing other Canadian troops, were not able to get as close to shore and the troops and their equipment had to be landed from small boats. Carrying their weapons with them, these soldiers, right, are shown as their boat passed away from the side of the destroyer.

Mix vegetables. Arrange in layers, sprinkling each layer with salt and crushed ice or ice cubes. Let stand 3 hours. Drain thoroughly. Boil syrup 5 minutes. Remove cinnamon and cloves. Add vegetables and heat to scalding (do not boil). Fill sterilized jars and seal at once.

Winter Salad
1 cauliflower
¼ cabbage
1 cucumber (large)
1 quart onions
1 quart green tomatoes
2 heads celery
2 quarts vinegar
1 cup flour
3 cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon turmeric
1 teaspoon celery seed
¼ cup mustard

Prepare all vegetables by putting them through the food chopper. Allow to stand in salt brine overnight. Then boil for ten minutes in brine and strain. Boil vinegar, mix flour, brown sugar, mustard, turmeric and celery seed in enough cold vinegar to make a paste. Add to hot vinegar and boil until it begins to thicken. Pour over vegetables. Mix well and bottle.

AIR RAIDS DAMAGE RED CROSS PROPERTY

Another Maple Leaf Club in London operated by the Canadian Red Cross has been battered by Nazi bombs. It was stated in a cable received at Red Cross Headquarters in Toronto. There were no casualties. The service provided by the club will be carried on in other quarters, and there will be no let up in the work. This was the second time within a week that Canadian Red Cross property in London had been damaged by air raids. Last week the First Maple Leaf Club established by the Canadian Red Cross for Canadian soldiers was ruined by bombs.

"Canadian Red Cross workers are continuing their efforts day and night in England on behalf of people left injured and homeless by enemy raids." Mrs. Plumtre, Chairman of War activities stated. "Thousands of articles of clothing and hospital supplies as well as tons of food are being distributed daily. The Canadian Red Cross is cabling ten thousand dollars to its London office to purchase urgently needed boots and shoes for homeless children. This is in addition to the ten thousand pairs of rubber boots being shipped from Canada in response to an urgent appeal from London. Thousands of blankets stored in Canadian Red Cross warehouses in England are being distributed daily and in response to a cable received last week, ten thousand more will go forward from Canada immediately."

NEWS & VIEWS OF TOWN AND DISTRICT

A former Wainwright businessman in the person of Mr. Arthur Dupre, of Edmonton, spent a few days in town last week.

We are glad to report that Mr.
Geo. Turnbull who suffered a broken arm a couple of weeks ago while threshing, is making satisfactory recovery.

Mrs. J. G. Pawling spent a few days in Edmonton last week visiting her son, Murray.

After listening to the war news for the past year, a plane circling over town last week caused considerable interest. The plane, however, was not a bomber, but it contained a party of high-ranking, oil executives from the States who were taking a bird's eye view of our oil field.

Mr. Quinton Carsell motored down from Edmonton on Saturday to spend the week with his parents.

Mrs. S. R. Bowerman is entertaining a guest this week in the person of Mrs. Cummings of Edmonton.

After a long dry spell such as we have just experienced, a spark from your chimney might start a fire anywhere. Also faulty lamps, lanterns, smokers, exhaust pipes, green feed in unventilated barns, children with matches, unsafe stove pipes and leaky chimneys are all fire hazards and should be protected by fire insurance—Joe Welch.

We are sorry to report that Mr.
Bob Reid had the misfortune to break his wrist while cranking a tractor at his farm east of town. It is very inconvenient for a farmer to be injured at this season when harvest operations have to be rushed through.

Mr. D. Dundas is moving his family into town for the winter and they will reside in the E. Devigson house on First avenue.

Several of the young men in town have received notice to appear before the local doctors for medical examination in connection with the month's training course they are compelled to take shortly.

Mr. Victor Goulet of Vancouver is back visiting his former school mates and friends. We understand he is on his way east to visit relatives there.

Having accepted a position as mechanic in the Bowerman Garage, Mr.
Charles Grunke has moved his family here from Mundare and is now residing in the Walton house on fifth avenue west.

Mr. Keith Parkhurst is home on his first leave of absence since he enlisted.

We are fortunate in this district that the weather has remained fair and until Tuesday conditions have been ideal. In many districts near Calgary, rain has hindered threshing operations, which had only just started, so that to date very little has been accomplished. Concern is being felt in those parts for the grain, when operations do start up again.

Misses May Tolmie and Eleanor Cork leave this week for Vancouver,
B. C., for a three weeks' holiday.

A STUDY OF A MAN IN TORMENT

Victor McLaglen's record is studied with pictures in which he has been called upon to play unympathetic roles, yet he won the Academy award a few years ago for his portrayal of a coward in "The In-former." In "Full Confession," at the Elite next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, he will delineate a weak-minded murderer who recounts a confession made to a priest to whom he owed his life. He maintains his denial despite all reason and prayer, even though it jeopardizes the life of another, until the priest, in a last minute application of psychology, succeeds in awakening the murderer's conscience.

For support McLaglen will have the services of Joseph Calleia, usually seen as a pretty bad man himself, yet an actor who is endowed with all the talents to play the role of a whole-souled priest, and Sally Eilers, Barry Fitzgerald and Bud McTaggart.

The week of October 6th to 12th has been set aside as Fire Prevention week by proclamation of His Excellency the Governor General of Canada, and citizens of town and district are asked to make a special survey of their property and destroy any fire hazards that may be lurking there.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pigeon were up to the city on Friday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Pigeon of Harrow, Ontario, who are visiting with them.

The DIAL REVIEW by Walter Davis

Money—Money—Money! — That familiar cry rings out again Saturday, October 5, from CJCA, when "Share the Wealth" returns — this year with a new master of ceremonies, Bert Pearl, of Happy Gang fame.
Rupert Lucas made a peach of a job as M.C. last season, but Pearl is well able to take his place and should fit into this rapid-fire show with no trouble at all. He tuned in at 6 p.m.

I think I told you a few weeks back that Wayne King was booked to begin September 21. I'm sorry about that, because the maestro won't be on the air until October 5.
Perhaps my error was a case of the wish being father to the thought — because I am, like thousands of Albertans, a push-over for the sweet music of Wayne King, and I'll be tuned in at 4:30 p.m. on October 5.

The village of Big Town, Alaska, (population 94), wants Edward G.
Robinson to pay it a visit on the occasion of its Old Home Day celebration Saturday, October 19. In fact, it's so anxious to entertain the star of "Big Town" that it is willing to buy him a round-trip ticket to Nome.
Robinson opens the new "Big Town" season (CJCA, Wednesdays) October 9th, however, and will not be able to accept the invitation.

Fast Monday at 9 o'clock, the new series of Light Up and Listen broadcasts started from CJCA. If it isn't a better, more entertaining series than last season, I miss my guess.
Milton Cross brings a good deal to the feature, and he has the kind of radio personality that wears well.
The program will continue to be heard at 9:00 p.m. Monday to Friday until September 30, when it will change time. Thereafter you'll hear it at 9:30 Monday through Saturday, except Tuesday.

October 6 is a popular radio date.
It marks the return of Jack Benny, radio's top-flight fun man. On that date Silver Theatre begins a new series, and on the same date the Lipton Tea Musical returns. As if that were not enough, back comes One Man's Family the same Sunday.
They're all CJCA features, and each one right up near the top of dozens of popularity polls!
